

VALENTINE'S DAY

When February comes around,
There's something special that I've found.

A day for one and all to share
The reasons that they have to care.

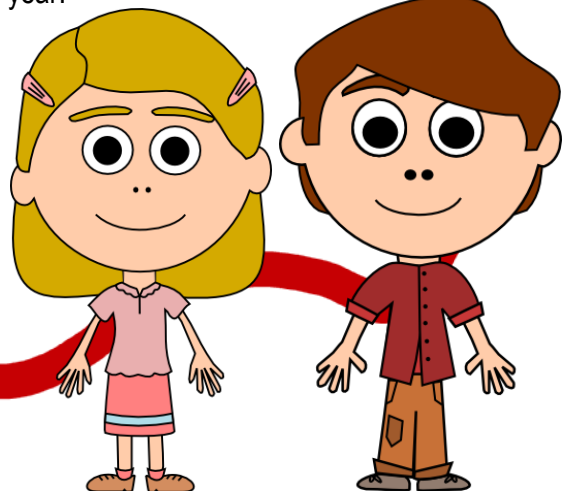

If there's someone that you think
Really has you tickled pink,
The fourteenth is a day for you
To show them what you feel is true.

Homemade card, or chocolate heart?
These are two good ways to start
Showing with a special treat
That you think someone is neat.

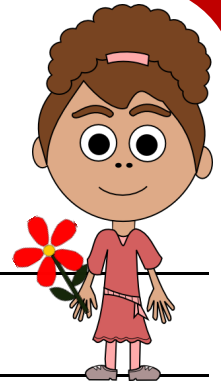

Parents, friends, and family,
All of them deserve to see
You're thankful that they're there for you
And that you care about them, too.

Valentine's is just one day,
But when it's gone, your love should stay.
Work to keep your loved ones near
And care for them throughout the year.

- Brian Anthony Crawford

V ALENTINE'S DAY

What is the poem Valentine's Day about?

What rhyming scheme does this poem use?

What is the tone of the poem Valentine's Day?

What does the narrator say you should do in the last stanza of the poem?

What is your opinion of this poem? Did you like it or dislike it? What are your reasons?
